PLAGUE OF MOSQUITOES

THE PEST WORSE IN HONOLULU NOW THAN AT ANY TIME SINCE THE FIRST ANTI-MOSQUITO CAMPAIGN BEGAN—PRESIDENT L. E. PINKHAM SAYS HONOLULU MUST PUT UP EXPENSES IF CITIZENS WANT THE PEST KEPT DOWN.

Honolulu is having a veritable plague of mosquitoes just now. In some districts they are declared to be worse than ever before, and many old-timers assert that the pest has never been worse than during the past few days. The humming insects have even made their way to the heights of Tantalus and from there all the way down to the ocean shore they are singing the same sweet song. They are so thick in some places along the beach that they are crowding each other out.

"If Honolulu wants to rid herself of mosquitoes she will have to pay for it," said President Pinkham of the Board of Health. "We are trying to do a little in some districts with our regular force of inspectors, but they have their own work to do. The mosquito work as a regular thing was stopped by the failure of the legislature to allow us any money. I asked for an appropriation, but it was not voted. The plan of voluntary subscriptions as worked for a time, is not practicable. The subscriptions were $1 each, and it was not worth while to go around collecting them. It took a man's time to get the money in. If Honolulu wants the work done, money must be provided. There are numerous complaints about the mosquitoes, and the only way to keep them down is by constant work. I am planning to use kerosene oil in some places where work is being done, as there has been complaint that the crude oil makes an objectionable smell."

"As far as Waikiki is concerned, there will some time have to be a lot of work done there, to improve the district. A great deal of filling in is needed and it is a hard problem to take up."

The anti-mosquito crusade as originally started was quite successful. It worked a remarkable reduction in the number of mosquitoes in Honolulu generally, and some parts of the city were freed from the pest almost altogether, so that residents were able to sit in the open air at night with no discomfort. There was a general collecting of old tin cans which might hold water, a filling up of all sorts of holes in which mosquitoes bred and oil was spread at intervals on the surfaces of other breeding places, and results were quickly shown.

SHORTAGE OF SAILORS.
 There is a shortage of sailors on the water front now. The ship John Currier wanted three sailors in order to be able to depart this afternoon in ballast for Port Townsend but from appearances this morning there was little prospect of securing the desired men.

STAR MADE THE LAND OFFICE BUSY

NEWS THAT MAKIKI LAND WAS IN DEMAND CAUSED BOOM IN INQUIRIES.

The land office telephone bell and the counter clerks were kept busy by the Star's publication of the fact that there were to be many applicants for Makiki valley lands. The number of prospective applicants has much increased.

"People were after me all over the town as a result of the Star's statement," said Land Commissioner Pratt, "and my telephone was ringing all the time. The time for actual legal applications has not come yet, and so the applications which are in are merely in the nature of inquiries. Some were afraid when they saw in the Star that there were many applicants that they were in danger of getting left, and hastened to look me up or telephone to find out what to do."

"I have told all inquirers that the time for formal applications has not come yet. Due announcement will be made when it is time, and everyone will be given an equal opportunity to apply for the land in the usual way."

FESTIVAL AT THE PENINSULA

The Catholic Benevolent Union will give a moonlight festival at the Peninsula on Saturday evening August 12. A special train leaves the depot at 7 o'clock and dancing in the cool and spacious pavilion will commence shortly after the arrival at the Peninsula.

Falling as it does in a night when the moon is at its brightest a very enjoyable time is looked for. The tickets which are $1 a couple are good on the regular trains and the return tickets are good until Sunday morning. They can be had from members and also at the Territorial Messenger Service.

The proceeds of the festival are to be devoted to a most worthy cause—the helping of the poor. All affairs of the Union are noted for their social success and the committee in charge of this affair does not propose to be outdone by any former committee, and is leaving nothing unturned to make the affair a social as well as a financial success. Special Rapid Transit Cars will be at the depot to accommodate the merry dancers.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT DISCUSSES CHINESE IMMIGRATION WITH LABOR LEADERS.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 12.—Immigration to the United States and its relation to the labor problem formed the subject of a conference this afternoon between the President and two of the most important leaders of organized labor, Samuel Gompers of Washington and James Duncan of Quincy, Mass., respectively the president and one of the vice-presidents of the American Federation of Labor. The conference was devoted particularly to a consideration of the order recently issued by the President regarding the enforcement of the Chinese exclusion law. An impression had been gained by many members of labor organizations that the order, to an extent at least, let down immigration bars so far as Chinese are concerned. The President assured his callers, however, that no such construction properly could be placed on the order, and that he was just as vigorously opposed to the admission to this country of Chinese coolies as they could be.

Gompers urged upon the President the desirability for an intelligent, practical and humane consideration of the general question of immigration by the people and by Congress. The people of this country and of the whole civilized world are entitled, he maintained, to such a consideration of the problem.

BOILERS NOT REPAIRED IN HONOLULU

This detail is given to show that the work done here was not even remotely connected with the explosion as that was an accident to the forward star-board boiler. As far as could be learned from official sources there was nothing wrong with her boilers when she was here, at any rate her officers were satisfied that any minor repairs that were needed to them could be done by her crew. Some repairs were done to her steam piping by her crew while here, Chief Machinist Bert Wheeler being in charge of it. Wheeler is well known here. He enlisted in the navy from this station some two years ago and was transferred to the Bennington from the Iroquois.

"Of course until the investigation is made it may not be possible to tell what caused the explosion on the Bennington," said an engineer this morning, "but I think I am safe in saying that in nine cases out of ten low water is the cause of boiler explosions. The Advertiser's explanation of how it may have occurred is hopelessly astray. It says that 'Everybody knows that when water runs out in a hot boiler and a fresh supply is pumped in, the instant and tremendous expansion of steam blows the boiler up.' That is absolutely the reverse of the case. Pumping fresh water into a boiler reduces the pressure instantly, as everybody should know. The danger in low water lies in having the boiler get red hot above the water line, then when fresh water strikes the red hot surface the explosion is almost certain to follow."

Much sympathy is expressed locally for the widow of Lieut. N. P. Perry who, it is reported was one of the victims. The young officer had only recently been married and the stay of the Bennington here was practically the honeymoon of what promised to be a very happy life. While here Lieut. and Mrs. Perry stayed at the Young Hotel. They went out a good deal and met a great many Honolulu people in a social way. Upon the departure of her husband's ship Mrs. Perry returned to the coast on the transport Sherman which reached San Francisco last Wednesday, two days before the explosion.

There was nothing in the despatch which told of the disaster yesterday to the effect that Lieut. Victor Blue was injured or even that he was aboard the vessel at the time of the accident. Mrs. Blue, who had remained here after the departure of the Bennington, sailed by the Warren Thursday, as was stated in the Star yesterday, on receipt of a cable from her husband telling her to come.

Since the foregoing was written it has been learned that when the U. S. S. Bennington left Honolulu harbor at about half-past one o'clock on Sunday morning, June 9, one of her boilers was out of order. She was to have left at half-past eleven on the night of the 8th, but was two hours late, and the reason given for the delay was that one of her boilers was out of commission. It was nothing more serious, however, than a plug leaking. The vessel left with this boiler not in use and with the men working on it. She passed the last buoy off the harbor at about two o'clock and headed for Molokai. The boiler was fixed very soon after that. Passengers from Honolulu who were on board and who were with Captain Young in his cabin say that soon after two o'clock a report was made to the captain that the boiler had been connected and was in use.

W. J. BUCHANAN DEAD IN MONTREAL

BROTHER OF A WELL KNOWN HONOLULU MAN PASSES AWAY IN THE CANADIAN METROPOLIS

Yesterday's mail brought the news of the death in Montreal, Canada, of Wentworth J. Buchanan, a brother of the late W. R. Buchanan of this city, whose family are well known. The Montreal Star of July 3 says:

Mr. Wentworth James Buchanan, general manager of the Bank of Montreal from 1881 to 1890, passed away at his residence No. 101 Crescent street at half past four o'clock on Sunday afternoon.

The deceased, who was the second son of the late Alexander Buchanan, K. C., was born in this city December 11, 1828. He was educated in Montreal, and afterward studied law in his father's office. Later on he decided to forego the profession of law, and entered the employ of W. J. Leacock and Company, general merchants and importers.

In 1847 Mr. Buchanan became identified with the Commercial Bank of Canada, first in Montreal and afterwards in Ottawa, then known as By-Town. In the latter place he eventually helped to wind up the affairs of the institution. In 1855 he entered the bank of Montreal, taking the position of teller. He afterwards acted as manager of the various branches in Woodstock, Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, and Montreal. In 1879 Mr. Buchanan was made assistant general manager of the Bank of Montreal and in 1881 was made general manager. He retired in October, 1890.

Mr. Buchanan was chairman of the Canadian Board of the Liverpool and London Globe Insurance Company. He was also for some years a governor of the Royal Victoria Hospital. In 1859 he married the youngest daughter of the late Major Arnold Burrows, of the Scots Fusiliers, who served on the Staff of Field Marshal Lord Beresford during the Peninsular War.

Mr. Buchanan was a member of the Church of England and leaves a widow three sons and two daughters. The sons are M. C. W. Buchanan, of the Bank of Montreal; F. P. Buchanan, of the chief engineer's department of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and R. T. Buchanan, of Woodlands, Que. Mrs. Frank H. Weir and Miss Buchanan are the daughters.

Y. M. C. A.
 Walter L. Winkler of Colorado Springs will address the men's meeting in Association hall at 5 o'clock tomorrow on "The Rose and the Man." Mr. Winkler was formerly general secretary and is now treasurer of the Y. M. C. A. of over 1000 members, with a building worth over $100,000. The usual supper follows the meeting.
